J. M. HYSMITH

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hysmith, late of Calgary, arrived in Didsbury on the 13th inst., to take over the harness shop, up until recently managed by Mr. E.
Lindquist. Mr. Hysmith for the past fifteen years or more has been connected with some of the largest manufacturers of horse goods, saddlery, etc., and with such large experience in this line may prove of great value to anyone needing his services.

that the farmers of this community are living in one of the best mixed farming districts to be found anywhere, and if the farmers are wise they will stick with the soil and eventually come out on top.

FOUR PHYSICIANS FAILED

Mr. George Pulos, a Well Known Tobacco Merchant in Brockville, Ont. Tells of His Faith in the Merit of Catarrhazone.

"In the fall of 1903," writes Mr. Pulos, under date of June 10th, 1910 "I contracted a very severe cold which developed into Catarrh. At that time I was living in New York State and treated with four different physicians who afforded me no relief. On coming to Brockville I was advised by a friend to try Catarrhazone. I bought the dollar outfit and was gratified by the results. I was completely cured by Catarrhazone, and have used it since to abort a cold with unfailing results. It is the grandest medicine in existence and I hope my testimony will be of some use to other fellow-sufferers."

(Signed) George Pulos.
Refuse a substitute for Catarrhazone. It alone can cure. Sold in 25, 50c. and $1.00 sizes by all dealers.

THE POWER OF TREE ROOTS

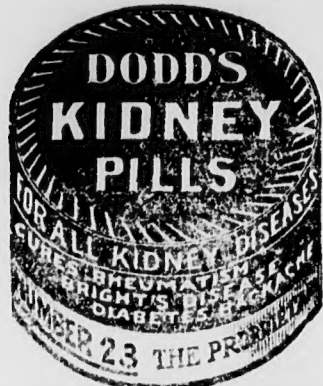

At El Portal, near the entrance to the Yosemite National Park, in California, is a remarkable example of the wonderful strength of the roots of a growing tree.

A live oak in some manner started its growth years ago in a small crevice in the upper side of a large sandstone rock, where possible a little soil had lodged, and the tender sprig grew into a sapling. Now, after years of growth, it is a tree of considerable size, and the roots, pushing down through the sandstone boulder, have caused the mass to split apart. The tree is still growing, and the roots are gradually pushing the fragments of the immense rock farther and farther apart each year.

Roots of forest trees have been known to lift great ledges of rock, splitting them off from the main vein. Shade trees in cities have been known to lift sidewalks, paved streets, and heavy, deep-set curbstones, and in a few cases roots have found their way into cellars and moved the foundation of dwellings.

GROWTH OF PRINCE RUPERT

During the season of 1910 over three hundred ocean vessels, aggregating about 325,000 tons, and with crews numbering upwards of 21,000 men, docked at Prince Rupert—the Pacific coast terminal of the Grand Trunk Pacific. In addition to this, 1,200 coasting vessels, with a tonnage amounting to 450,000 tons and crews of 26,000 men, entered the new port.

PISO'S THE BEST MEDICINE

FOR COUGHS & COLDS

Storyettes

It is related by the Rev. F. C. Malan that he once had to discharge a gardener for dishonesty. The man made an unsuccessful attempt to vindicate his character, and, failing in this, said mournfully to the vicar: "Ah, sir, you will miss me before I be gone half an hour!" "I shan't mind that," answered Mr. Malan cheerfully, "if I don't miss anything else!"

Apropos of Canadian reciprocity N. C. Goodwin said the other day at the Lamb in New York: "But you can't rely on Senator Blank. Blank is never satisfied. I visited his ranch one day and he had the finest crop I ever saw harvested. I knew, though, that Blank would have something to complain about, and, sure enough, when I remarked, 'This is a record crop, you lucky rascal!' Blank frowned and said: 'Yes, but I'm afraid it's going to be a terrible strain on the land.'"

A man who had bumped around from church to church, trying to find a congenial congregation, stopped one Sunday at the Little Church Around the Corner. "Good-morning," said the usher. "Are you a stranger?" "Oh, no," said the man, "not particularly. I just dropped in." Just then the congregation began to read this service with the minister: "We have done the things we ought not to have done, and have left undone the things we should have done." Before they got any further the man said: "Thank heaven, I've found my bunch. Guess I'll stay."

Two Scotchmen staying at a third-rate hotel in London discovered that the washstand in their bedroom was minus soap. After ringing the bell, an attendant appeared and asked their wishes. "See up saps, lad—a wee bit saps, quick!" exclaimed one of the Caledonians. The attendant gazed open-mouthed at the two men, muttering: "They ain't French, nor German, nor yet Spanish. What can they want?" The Scot became angry. "Man," he thundered, "can ye no' understand plain Scotch?" The attendant promptly withdrew, and returned with a bottle and two glasses.

The caddie followed him around the course silently, solemnly, but not unobtrusively. Their wake behind was marked by scuffs and gashes in the turf. At length he ventured on a tentative remark: "Ye'll be a stranger to these parts, maybe?" "Well, not exactly a stranger," whirled the other. And one more gash appeared as a lump of turf soared aloft and came down fifty yards away. "You see," the golfer concluded, "I was born here, but I have been away many years now. All my folks are buried hereabouts." "I doot ye'll no' go deep en' with your driver," remarked the caddie, "ye'd better tak' your iron."

An irate old lady, the wife of a prosperous farmer on the outskirts of Philadelphia, stepped off the train in Broad Street station the other day with a face like a thunder-cloud. Any one could see in that scowling countenance the smouldering fire that might break forth at any minute. Stamping excitedly on the platform, she gnashed her teeth in a struggle to keep back the tears. Finally she buttonholed the first person who would listen to her tale of woe. "What's all this here talk of educating young men to be civil engineers?" she screeched, indignantly. "What we need in this here country is more civil conductors and less sassy brakemen."

Sir William Howard Russell's diary for April, 1852, has this glimpse of Thackeray: "The sportsmen among whom I had the honor to be numbered were of the Winkle order: Thackeray, Dickens, John Leech, Jerrold, Lemon, Ibbotson, were invited, and carriages were reserved to Watford. As we were starting a written excuse was brought from Dickens to be conveyed to Mrs. X by Thackeray. The party drove up to the house, and after compliments Thackeray delivered the billet. The effect was unpleasant. Mrs. X fled along the hall and the guests heard her calling to the cook, 'Martin, don't roast the ortolans; Mr. Dickens isn't coming.' Thackeray said he never felt so small. 'There's a test of popularity for you! No ortolans for Penderennis!'"

There was an absent-minded bishop in Western Ontario, who was constantly fixing himself in awkward situations, on account of his extreme abstraction. On a certain occasion he was traveling from London in a northerly direction and found, when the conductor approached him, that he had forgotten where he was to go. The conductor suggested that he telegraph from the next station and find out his destination. It was before the days of long-distance telephones, and the bishop telegraphed to his wife from the first station: "Where was I going?" to be answered at the following station: "Exeter; be sure to get off there." The bishop then beamed at the anxious conductor and remarked placidly: "These little difficulties always turn out satisfactorily."

Bishop Bloomfield confesses that, as a country curate, he thought very highly of a sermon he had preached on "atheism," and was so imprudent as to ask a farmer with whom he had walked from church how it struck him. "Well, sir," he replied, "for all you did say, and no doubt it was very clever, I still

Canal Worker's Experience

Some time ago I came to this place to work on the canal and through inclement weather and exposure contracted the worst kind of neuralgia. The pain would fill my forehead so that I couldn't see; it was just awful. I went to a druggist in town and was advised to use a 50c. bottle of Nerviline. That was the best advice and the best medicine I ever got. I will always recommend Nerviline for any ache or pain. It is so strong and penetrating it is bound to cure.

(Signed) A. B. Giorgi,
Trenton, Ont.

Doctors will tell you that nothing but the purest and most healing anti-septic drugs are used in Nerviline—that's why it is so safe for family use—for the baby as well as the parent. If you haven't tried Nerviline, do so now—your neighbors are almost sure to know its manifold merits and uses.

believe that there is a God." Legge, Bishop of Oxford, who had not youth as his excuse for vanity, asked his friend Canning to come and hear his first episcopal sermon. They dined together afterward, and from the politician's silence the other ought to have known better than to push him; but, being rather nettled, he exclaimed: "Canning, you have said nothing to me about my sermon." "Well, it was short." "Oh," said the bishop, "it is better to be short than tedious." "But," replied Canning, "you were that too."

Mr. Sidener had made his first public speech. His subject was good, "The Iniquities of Industrial Economy," and he hoped his treatment had been adequate. He was not sure. He waited for his wife's verdict, but she was strangely silent. She had listened to him from the gallery of the town hall and he had half expected her to meet him at the door afterward and to say, as soon as they were out of hearing: "Oh, it was simply great, Ed!" But they were half way home and she had said nothing of the kind. "Well," he began awkwardly, when he could bear it no longer, "what did you think of my speech?" "What you said was all right," she answered with guarded enthusiasm, "but it seemed to me that you didn't make the most of your opportunities." "Opportunities?" repeated Mr. Sidener. "What do you mean, Effie?" "Why," Mrs. Sidener replied, "you had ever so many chances to sit down before you did."

The Horseman

Thomas Hodgson, the Orillia horseman, is one who has confidence in the future of the harness horse in Canada, judging by his recent purchase of that grandly bred stallion Manor King, son of Direct Hal, 2,044—Lady of the Manor, 2,044.

Mr. Hodgson is the man who brought the noted stallion Joe Patchen II., 2,174, into Canada, and since he sold that horse for a big figure last fall, has been on the lookout for one equally as good to take his place. He visited a number of the leading stock farms in the United States without finding a horse that he thought would be satisfactory to the owners of high-class mares in Canada, but at Charlie Dean's Palatine III., farm, he ran across what he considers to be the right article. Among about one hundred head at Dean's farm was the 5-year-old black stallion Manor King, that had trialed very highly in 1909 as a 3-year-old, when he paced in 2:17, and Mr. Hodgson fell in love with him at first sight, mainly on account of his beautiful conformation and excellent blood lines—Manor King being a son of the undefeated Direct Hal, 2,044, son of Direct, 2,054—Bessie Hall, by Torn Hal Jr., and his dam that great race mare Lady of the Manor, 2,044, by Mambrino King—Princess Chimes, by Chimes—Estabell, by Alcantara. Lady of the Manor was a truly great race mare, being the world's champion pacing mare from 1899 to 1903. As a 4-year-old, she won $14,350 in purses, finishing in front in no less than ten races out of thirteen starts, and no mare ever made such a wonderful campaign at that age.

As a brood mare, she has been most noted, producing the sensational Lord Direct, that sold for $10,500 at auction, and Lord Direct, by the way, is an own brother to Manor King.

Charlie Dean is regarded as one of America's shrewdest horsemen. It was he who brought out the great pacing mare, The Broncho, 2,000, and afterwards Minor Hair, 1,584. Dean bought Manor King as a yearling, believing him to be the best bred pacer obtainable, and it was only the enormous figure offered for the horse that made it possible for Mr. Hodgson to own him, as Dean intended racing the stallion this year, when it was expected he would prove at least a 2:05 pacer.

It is Canada's gain that such a stallion should come here, for Manor King will be in the stud during the present season, and he is sure to be patronized by owners of good mares. It is just possible that the horse will be raced on the ice next winter. Mr. Hodgson being a believer in winter racing benefiting a horse. In this case, who knows

It Eases Pain.—Ask any druggist or dealer in medicines what is the most popular of the medicinal oils for pain in the joints, in the muscles or nerves, or for neuralgia and rheumatism, and he will tell you that Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is in greater demand than any other. The reason for this is that it possesses greater healing qualities than any other oil.

that another Joe Patchen II will not be seen in the ownership of the Orillia horseman!

The relative merits of Bingen, 2,064, and Peter the Great, 2,074, as sires have been under discussion for some time by the leading turf authorities, and each stallion has a host of champions. This discussion is of more than usual interest to Canadians, as there are a number of descendants of each stallion in the country.

Peter the Great has sixty-two trotters and one pacer, two of his sons have sired one trotter and one pacer, while two of his daughters have produced one trotter each. At the close of 1910, Bingen was credited with seventy-nine trotters and eighteen pacers with standard records. In the next generation, eighteen of his sons have sired one hundred and thirteen trotters and fourteen pacers, while three of the daughters have produced eight trotters. Among the sons of Bingen are Todd, with forty-nine trotters and seven pacers to his credit, as well as two sons that have sired trotters to take standard records, and Bingara, that has twenty-four trotters and a producing daughter.

The colt trotters by Peter the Great are so overwhelmingly the superior of the first generation Bingen there is no comparison between them. And this fact scores heavily with breeders, who in these days are looking first of all for early speed of the variety that the records show to be winning the im-

CURED THE WIFE AND HUSBAND TOO

GREAT WORK DONE BY DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS IN ONE QUEBEC FAMILY

Thomas Lauriault had Kidney Disease and His Wife Bright's Disease, and Dodd's Kidney Pills Made Them Both Well.

Lac Cayamont, Que. (Special).—There is a world interest in the simple story of Madame Thomas Lauriault of this place. In her own words, it is as follows:

"Dodd's Kidney Pills cured my husband of Kidney Disease and myself of Bright's Disease. We recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all who suffer from Kidney or Bright's Disease."

This is a splendid example of the great work Dodd's Kidney Pills are doing among the plain people of Canada. Kidney disease is the commonest of all ailments among those who have to work hard, because the kidneys are the first part of the body to feel the wear and tear of heavy work.

When the kidneys go wrong the blood goes wrong, and the whole body goes wrong. Bright's Disease, Dropsy, Diabetes and Bright's Disease are the usual results. Dodd's Kidney Pills cure these by simply curing the kidneys.

HER SKIN WAS YELLOW

"I had only to try Dr. Hamilton's Pills to appreciate their merit," writes Miss Annie M. Bryce, of Woodstock. "My system was out of order. My blood was weak and thin. I had a nasty murky complexion. My skin was hard and dry. The first box of Dr. Hamilton's Pills made a complete change. I felt better at once. Healthy color came into my face. In about three weeks I was cured. Dr. Hamilton's Pills effect an easy cure. Try these good pills, 25c. per box, or five boxes for $1.00 at all dealers."

portant colt races, and for this reason the Peter the Great strain is in demand above all others, in spite of the fact that the percentage of 2:30 speed it produces is not as great as that of the Bingen tribe.

As game race horses, the Peter the Greats are generally regarded as superior to the Bingen, although many of the latter have exhibited unquestionable courage, notably the locally owned Fritz Bingen, 2,194, that has been the winner of many long drawn-out races in which he displayed rare staying qualities. Fritz Bingen, however, is out of the good Wilton mare Javotte, and a large amount of his courage is attributed to that source. There has never been any question about the staying powers of the get of Peter the Great, for those that raced at all, raced well. The filly Grace, that won the 3-year-old division of the Kentucky Futurity last year, is a daughter of Peter the Great, 2,074—Orrianna, 2,194, by Onward, 2,254, and it will be remembered that in this race she won simply by sheer gameness, defeating the hitherto unbeaten Colorado E., that established the world's record, 2,044, for trotters of that age.

OUR TWO MILLION ANCESTORS

Excluding intermarriages, the number of our progenitors in the twenty-first generation back exceeds two millions. Now putting a generation at thirty years, we conclude that six hundred years ago the number of persons existing who had borne a part in the production of our individual body exceeded two millions. But six hundred years ago, or somewhat less, when the Black Death had ravaged the country from end to end, the whole population of England probably did not exceed two millions. On the supposition, therefore, that there have been no intermarriages, and no admixture of foreign blood, we must each represent in our own body the germplasm and the characteristics of the entire population of England less than six centuries ago! If the numbers of the race remain stationary and other conditions are as before, our living progeny six hundred years hence are not likely to number less than two millions.

Death of Mrs. Wright

Clara Ethel Wrigglesworth was born in Ontario, Canada, March 17th, 1877, and died in Boise, Idaho, October 5, 1913. She moved with her parents to Minnesota in 1889 and was united in marriage to Orson B. Wright May 28, 1901, at Sioux City, Iowa. Mr. Wright was at that time engaged in the mercantile business in Pipestone Minn., where they resided until five years ago when they moved to a homestead five miles southwest of Caldwell.

Mrs. Wright was converted and joined the Methodist church at 12 years of age and has ever since been a most devoted and faithful member. She was a woman of strong and earnest convictions. Her life was above reproach. To know her was to esteem her. She was a devoted wife, an affectionate mother a sincere friend and a loyal member of the church. She has left to her children the richest of all legacies, a mother's influence and a mother's prayers.

She endured much suffering, having for years been in ill health. Mr. Wright was arranging his business so as to devote his time in caring for her in the hope that her health might be restored but she has gone to that Land where suffering is unknown.

There are left to mourn, the husband, five small children, a father and mother, three brothers and a sister.

The funeral services were held on October 9 at 2.30 p.m. at the Methodist church, conducted by the district superintendent, Dr. J. D. Gillilan. Interment in the Canyon Hill cemetery.

Friends extend the tenderest sympathies to the members of the shadowed, darkened household bereft of its most precious treasure. — The Caldwell News, Idaho.

SYNOPSIS OF CANADIAN NORTH-WEST LAND REGULATIONS.

THE sole head of a family, or any male over 18 years old, may homestead a quarter section of available Dominion land in Manitoba, Saskatchewan or Alberta. The applicant must appear in person at the Dominion Lands Agency or Sub-Agency for the District. Entry by proxy may be made at the office of any Local Agent of Dominion Lands (not sub-agent), on certain conditions.

Duties—Six months residence upon and cultivation of the land in each of three years. A homesteader may live within nine miles of his homestead on a farm of at least 80 acres, on certain conditions. A habitable house is required in every case, except when residence is performed in the vicinity.

In certain districts a homesteader in good standing may pre-empt a quarter-section alongside his homestead. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Six months residence in each of six years from date of homestead entry (including the time required to earn homestead patent) and 50 acres extra cultivation. The area of cultivation is subject to reduction in case of rough, scrubby or stony land after report by Homestead Inspector on application for patent.

A homesteader who has exhausted his homestead right and cannot obtain a pre-emption may take a purchased homestead in certain districts. Price $3 per acre. Duties—Must reside six months in each of three years, cultivate 50 acres and erect a house worth $300.

W. W. CORY,

Deputy of the Minister of the Interior.

These horses have been running here since about July 1st, 1913. 0150

J. W. Copeland, of Dayton, Ohio, purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for his boy who had a cold, and before the bottle was all used the boy's cold was gone. Is that not better than to pay a five dollar doctor's bill? For sale by all dealers.

Pertinent Personalities

In the days "before the flood," as the Conservatives would say, Bill Patterson, or Almighty Voice, as the Brant Reserve Indians designate him, was one of the big lights of the Liberal party. He was a member of the heavy artillery, and whenever there was any heavy cannonading he was shoved to the fore. He has a voice like Jove's thunder itself. They say that on the hustings he has actually shouted down two Tory bands especially hired to offset his oratory. He could reach with his voice the outer fringe of the biggest political picnic Ontario ever saw.

Once Bill was wreaking his wrath in the house and denouncing the extravagance of the Tories. "I would," he shouted in stentorian tones, "my voice could be heard by every elector of this country."

"Why don't you open the windows?" came the retort from a Tory back-bencher.

Jean Baptiste Morin, one of the most picturesque parliamentary figures at Ottawa, for a number of sessions, died at Dorchester, Que., last month. The general public knew nothing of him, he was never in the limelight, he was scarcely known outside of his own constituency. What made him interesting was the fund of anecdotes which had gathered round him. There were more good stories told of Morin than any man who ever sat in the federal house. They were fastened on him whether he deserved them or not. He was a typical French-Canadian habitant, whose speeches sounded for all the world like Dr. Drummond's poems. He was a Tory of the old Cartier school. He was a Quebec "bleu," and never became reconciled to the change of heart of his province. Laurier he always distrusted, almost hated.

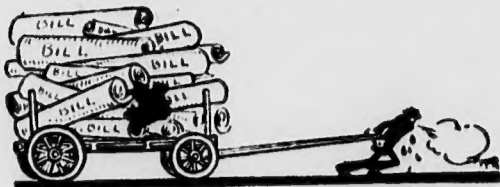

Morin joined the exodus to the States in his youth, and knoeked up and down the republic, lumbered, worked on the railroads and generally pioneered in the west. He amassed what to a French-Canadian looked like a small-sized fortune, and returned to his native land where he quietly proceeded to mortgage the whole country-side. This done he entered parliament.

He made few speeches in the house, but when it was known that he intended to have the floor there was always a crowded house to see the fun. Old-timers at Ottawa still laugh over his maiden speech. It was upon a proposal of the government to subsidize a line of the Canadian Northern to the Yukon, which he described as running from "an icicle to a snow ball." After condemning the whole scheme, claiming that the C. N. R. was only after the subsidy, he suddenly shocked the decorous house by shouting, "Then, Mr. Speaker, they will say to hell with the road!"

There were cries of order, and the house was immediately in an uproar. Jean Baptiste saw he had made a fatal mistake, and motioning the speaker to his seat, he said, "I accept the apology, I accept your apology, Mr. Speaker." The rest of the speech was lost in the half hour laughter of the house.

The story is told of Morin that he was once invited to a state dinner by Sir Adolphe Caron. It was one of those highly elegant functions which start at eight o'clock. Jean Baptiste, however, was on hand promptly at six o'clock. It was explained to him that he was slightly ahead of time, but would he wait in the drawing room. One glance at the richly furnished quarters was enough for Morin. Could he wait in the kitchen? So he was ushered into the culinary department, where he had a good smoke of French-Canadian tobacco while he gossiped with the domestics. One of the newspaper correspondents got hold of the story and sent a highly-colored account to one of the Chicago papers. Of course, it got back to Ottawa, and Morin's fellow members so joked him that he started on the war-path of the newspapermen. He fairly haunted the press room with challenges of a duel. However, the culprit could never be located.

E. N. Lewis, M.P. for West Huron, holds the record as the champion bill introducer at Ottawa. Every week he has some brand new idea of reforming the world and immediately he embodies it in an act. It seldom gets past a first reading, or a second at the most, but it gives him an opportunity of making a speech and getting his name in the newspapers—all for the consumption of his West Huron constituents. He was the sponsor of the Daylight bill, and even succeeded in having a committee appointed, which held solemn sessions in the lofty tower room. But their report has been pigeon-holed somewhere and nothing has been heard of the subject for a couple of sessions. Once in a while Lewis stumbles on something really useful, and one of his measures this year—a bill to compel lake steamers to install wireless—was adopted by the government, an unusual honor for an opposition back-bencher.

E. Norman Lewis he is known by in polite society at the capital, but when he gets back to his native burg of Goderich, he prefers the title of "Sailor Ned." It is a better vote-getter. He claims to have sailed before the mast, but there are at Ottawa scoffers who assert that it is all fiction for the benefit of his lake front constituents. However, that may be, he is a recognized authority on Marine Law, and has published two volumes, "The Mariners' Annual" and "Lewis' Law of Shipping."

How he has ever succeeded in holding West Huron for the Conservatives has been a mystery at Ottawa. It is a notoriously close riding with a strong leaning towards Liberalism. But he has studied the science of nursing a constituency so carefully that he should write a manual for the use of budding politicians. He knows the idiosyncrasies and the peculiarities of every voter in the riding.

If any of them has a peculiar hobby, E. Norman hunts up blue-books on the subject and franks them to him. He is careful to see that marked copies of his speeches reach every voter. The art of canvassing he has developed to a nicety. "Never talk politics to a man who is on the opposite fence," he says. "If you argue with him it rubs him the wrong way, if you agree with him, he thinks you are silly. Canvas on the weather and the crops." This is Lewis' patented system summed up in a word.

The Winnipeg Dickens Fellowship has followed the lead of this organization the world over, and is selling Dickens'

Memorial stamps. The idea is for every owner of a Dickens library to purchase a stamp for each volume, the proceeds to be used for the benefit of the descendants of Dickens, who are said to be in want. I have never been enamored with the scheme for two reasons, one that it was contrary to the spirit of the novelist's will, and second that Dickens left a fortune of close on half a million. His was no case of a poor, struggling artist, dying penniless, his real worth to be discovered by a later generation. No English novelist, before or since, has ever been so widely recognized by his day and generation as a real genius as Dickens. His emoluments for his day were handsome indeed. Here is what Dickens says in his will:

"I conjure my friends on no account to make me the subject of any monument, memorial, or testimonial whatever. I rest my claims to the remembrance of my country upon my published works, and to the remembrance of my friends upon their experience of me in addition thereto."

M. A. P. has in a recent issue a bitter attack on the scheme, which it terms an insult to Dickens, the writer winding up with this biting statement:

"I will not pretend to be a Dickensian (for never was there a more barbarous miscoining of a man's surname), but in exposing this absurd business I am merely doing what Dickens himself would have done; and if that great man's spirit is conscious of what is occurring on this curious planet, I can well imagine his anger at the manifest refusal to respect his dying wishes and at the fact that, after all his hard work and careful saving, his fortune of £93,000 should not be considered sufficient to save his memory from this latest gratuitous humiliation."

TOY OCEANS

Nearly every great naval power maintains within some one of its shipbuilding plants or navy-yards a toy ocean upon which miniature models of naval vessels are launched and operated, in order to determine whether certain details of construction have been carried out correctly.

This idea had its inception in the mind of Froude, the British naval constructor, something over a quarter of a century ago. He performed a series of experiments with scale models designed to predetermine the resistance of ships about to be built for the navy. He made small models of the vessels to be constructed, giving great care to the preservation of the scale; and these models he then towed through the water under varying conditions, by mechanism extremely sensitive to variation in the pull. The tension in each case was carefully recorded, and conclusions were drawn as to the lines most favorable for speed. To verify his results a British man-of-war was towed by another vessel, and the actual pull on the tow-ropes was carefully measured and compared with the results of the experiments made with a small model. The two sets of answers were so nearly alike as to leave no doubt of the practicability of actual experiments with reduced scale models.

The United States Government possesses such a model basin for experiments of this kind at the Washington Navy-yard. Within a building designed to protect it from all disturbing conditions of the atmosphere is a tank of pure, fresh water almost four hundred feet long, and having a depth of some fourteen feet. Spanning this narrow sheet of water is a movable bridge, set upon steel rails, which run parallel to the length of the basin. Heavily built, and fastened and braced so tightly as to avoid all unnecessary vibration, this bridge is provided with a powerful motor, which can drive it along at a rate of twenty knots or more per hour.

The model of the proposed ship, cut from soft pine and ballasted with the utmost care, is firmly fastened to an arm projecting from below the centre of the bridge, or towing carriage, as it is called. On the carriage are placed the delicate dynamometrical mechanisms that record the "pull" of the model as it glides through the water beneath the span of the bridge. This, multiplied by the proper quantity, must establish accurately the power that will be required to overcome the resistance of the finished vessel. By reason of an almost flawless electrical adjustment, the bridge moves forward with an even motion, without a trace of rattle or jar.

In addition to the motormen, there are two persons on the carriage during an experiment. They watch the pens of the recording cylinder of the dynamometer. These pens, by means of electricity, register the actual distances traversed, together with the varying pull of the models as the speed changes.

When everything is ready for an experiment, the bridge, at the clang of a gong, starts from the south to the north end of the tank, while beneath it the model of the warship glides evenly through the water. As the run nears its end, and one wonders how the bridge with its delicate instruments is going to avoid collision with the wall ahead, two great hydraulic brakes operate automatically, and bring the mass to a gentle stop without jar or quiver.

A FAMOUS ORANGE-TREE

At the last account there was still living, in a Georgia nursery, an extraordinary orange-tree, an orange-tree of old history, and one, it is thought, which has had more varied descendants than any other orange-tree in this country.

When Japan was opened to Western civilization, nothing more attracted the curious Occidental than the quaint plants and shrubs of the Japanese. Tiny orange-trees, so small that they grew in tubs and could be set on a stand in an ordinary room, yet so perfect that they produced blossoms and fruit in season, were brought to America to ornament the conservatories of plant-lovers. These dwarf trees showed by their gnarled trunks that they were very old, an added attraction in the eyes of the horticulturist.

American gardeners sought in vain for the stock that was the basis for these dwarfs. The Japanese were willing to export the product, but the secret of its origin they kept safely at home. It was evidently a grafted tree, and from its seeds a variety of things, none of them like the root-stalk, were obtained. Some of the earliest importations came to Georgia. A certain lot died. Of these that died one was thrown out on a heap of rubbish, became buried, and was forgotten.

After a while, strange to say, an odd thing was seen to be coming up in the rubbish-heap, and investigation showed that a dwarf tree had sprouted from the roots. All the fruit, of course, and consequently the seeds of the plant, had come from above the graft, and so had been hybrids, partaking of the characteristics of the bud instead of those of the root; but this new stalk came from below the graft, and was own child of the root—a bit of the genuine, long-sought stock.

That carefully nursed and guarded sapling was the origin of the famous orange-trees of Georgia. As soon as it began to bear fruit, its seeds were planted and guarded as carefully as the original stalk. Year after year all the seeds were planted, and even the seeds of the new plants, till at last the nursery was well stocked with the thorny citrus trifoliata.

Commercial oranges are blends of many varieties. A delicate tree bearing a sweet fruit may be grafted upon a hardy root and bear sweet oranges. Seedlings from it may be worthless, but trees propagated by cuttings retain the sweetness and the hardy qualities. Citrus trifoliata is extremely hardy and very productive. So upon the seedling of this tree had been grafted almost an infinite variety of other fruits to obtain commercial trees. Orchards all over the country, and, in fact, in all parts of the world where oranges are grown, are stocked with descendants of citrus trifoliata, although, of course, not all are from this stock so strangely obtained, for, about the time when this fortunate accidental discovery was made in Georgia, other gardeners succeeded in wresting the secret from the Japanese, and bringing over seedlings.

THE SLAUGHTER OF THE EGRET

Though humane royal personages have sternly tabooed the use of the aigrette as a feathered decoration for my lady's head-dress, the slaughter of the heron continues practically without diminution. And this ceaseless warfare in the interests of fashion has extended to other birds. According to the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, the heron whose plumage was in such keen demand has been almost exterminated; and this is not surprising, seeing that relentless hunters thought nothing of killing hundreds per day, one party of six having massacred over a hundred thousand of these graceful birds in a single season. The humming-bird is now the magnet of the hunter's quest, owing to its dainty plumage; but in order to secure the brilliant hues of this little denizen of the air it is essential that the bird should be skinned alive. One American woman contracted to supply a Parisian house with twenty thousand bird-skins at one and eightpence apiece, and to satisfy her greed for gold stripped a whole island of its wealth of feather, no bird being safe from the depredations of the hunters she employed at fivepence a skin. As the hunt generally takes place while the birds are nesting, the havoc wrought is far greater than might be supposed, for the young fledglings die from starvation, and all to meet the inexorable demands of feminine vanity! In this country, although the aigrette and other bird-plumage, owing to the vigorous humanitarian campaign, have fallen somewhat into disfavor, imitation creation of wings and plumes are tolerated; but the majority of these, though sold as artificial, are as a matter of fact genuine—another glaring instance of the fraud of the label, which can only be met by stern legislation.

THE CULTIVATION OF CLOVES

Cloves are now cultivated in many of the tropical regions of the earth.

A clove-tree begins to bear at the age of ten years, and continues until it reaches the age of seventy-five years. There are two crops a year, one in June and another in December.

The tree is an evergreen, and grows from forty to fifty feet high, with large oblong leaves and crimson flowers at the end of small branches in clusters of from ten to twenty. The tree belongs to the same botanical order as the guava. The cloves, which are the undeveloped buds, are at first white, then light green, and at the time of gathering bright red.

Pieces of white cloth are spread under the trees at harvesting-time, and the branches are beaten gently with bamboo sticks until the cloves drop. They are dried in the sun, being tossed about daily until they attain the rich dark color that proclaims them ready for shipment.

In this country and England cloves are used almost wholly as a condiment, but in France they are employed largely in the manufacture of certain liquors, and to some extent they are used in medicine on account of their tonic properties.

An Always Ready Pill.—To those of regular habit medicine is of little concern, but the great majority of men are not of regular habit. The worry and cares of business prevent it, and out of the irregularity of life come dyspepsia, indigestion, liver and kidney troubles as a protest. The run down system demands a corrective and there is none better than Parmelee's Vegetable Pills. They are simple in their composition, and can be taken by the most delicately constituted.

SPRING SKIN TROUBLES

Pimples, Eruptions and "Spotty Complexions"

At this season, scores of people—girls and young women especially—find their faces disfigured by pimples, dark spots, eruptions, etc. The skin needs attention—needs renovating after the trying time it has passed through during the winter.

Just think what it has gone through! You have been out in rain and sleet and snow. You have been at one moment perspiring from skating, or some other exertion. Then you have stood to "cool off." You have spent hours of the day indoors at a temperature equal to summer heat. Then you have covered up your skin—except your face—and gone out into a temperature away below zero! No wonder that, with all these changes, the skin of the face and neck shows signs of needing attention.

Zam-Buk and Zam-Buk Soap are the remedies. Smear Zam-Buk lightly over the spots, the eruptions, the shallow patches at night, and wash with Zam-Buk Soap (only 25c. per tablet) each day. Then notice how quickly your appearance improves. As the rich, refined, herbal essences sink deep into the tissue, the hard, scurf-like patches are removed. Better color results. The cells of the skin become transparent. The blood beneath is able to impart its proper coloring to the tissue, and the delicate bloom of health replaces the sallowness and pallor of disease.

Zam-Buk is also a sure cure for skin injuries and diseases. Eczema, ulcers, ringworm, yield to its use. For cuts, burns, bruises, children's rashes, etc., it is unequalled, and for pimples. Mothers will find Zam-Buk Soap best for baby's bath! All druggists and stores at 50c. box for Zam-Buk and 25c. tablet (or 3 for 70c.) for the Soap. If you have any difficulty in obtaining, order from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, and send price.

DO NOT USE THE KNIFE

That is a barbarous way of treating corns—dangerous, too. Any corn, bunion or callous can be removed quickly and painlessly by Putnam's Corn Extractor, mark the name. Safe, prompt, painless. Sold by druggists. Price 25c.

Shiloh's Cure
quickly stops coughs, cures colds, heals the throat and lungs. 25 cents.

Owing to the reports of cases of smallpox within the London radius a large amount of insurance business has already been placed against the risk of the disease. It is stated that as much as $50,000 has been covered in respect to a single case, and it is generally known in the market that $5,000 policies have been freely issued.

Mr. Thomas Bell, a local conductor on the Canadian Pacific Railway, recently took his breakfast in a Fort William restaurant and ordered a dish of oyster stew. In the stew he found a pearl, which has been valued by a local jeweller at $2,500.

Worms cause fretfulness and rob the infant of sleep; the great nourisher, Mother Graves' Worm Exterminator will clear the stomach and intestines and restore healthfulness.

STUDER & CO.

The Easy Laxative

In justice to yourself you should try Rexall Orderlies, — your money back if you don't like them. They are a candy confection that really do give easy relief from constipation.

Good health is largely dependent upon the bowels. When they become sluggish the waste material that is thrown off by the system accumulates. This condition generates poisons which circulate throughout the body, tending to create coated tongue, bad breath, headache, dull brain action, nervousness, biliousness and other annoyances.

Avoid harsh cathartics and physics.
They give but temporary relief.
They often aggravate the real trouble.
They are particularly bad for children, delicate or aged persons.

Rexall Orderlies

Come in tablet form, taste just like candy and are noted for their easy, soothing action upon the bowels.
They don't purge, gripe, cause nausea, looseness, nor the inconveniences attendant upon the use of purgatives. Their action is so pleasant that the taking of Rexall Orderlies almost becomes a desire instead of a duty.

Children like Rexall Orderlies.
They are ideal for aged or delicate

CAUTION: Please bear in mind that Rexall Orderlies are not sold by all druggists. You can buy Rexall Orderlies only at the Rexall Stores.

School Sports

A very interesting and profitable day was spent on Wednesday of last week, by the pupils of the school.
The day was fine and the programme of sports well carried out. Messrs.
Reed, secretary of the School Board,
G. Sexsmith, the chairman, H. W.
Chambers, and Mr. Moyle aided the Vice-Principal in directing and judging the various events.

The Principal with the aid of the Misses Weber, Shantz, Moon and Moore classified the prizes. In the evening an excellent programme was rendered. The chairman of the Board Mr. Sexsmith presided with his usual good humor and ability.

An interesting feature was the bestowment of the medals by Mrs. Joseph Stauffer, upon their respective winners.
Addresses were given by Messrs. Marshall, Grant and the Chairman.

The subject of the debate was resolved "That Canada should be kept white."

Rev. Mr. Marshall and Mr. Patterson were judges and so closely matched were the combatants that Mr. Patterson in a very neat complimentary address declared it a draw. Mr. Fred Aylesworth of Olds, our popular Inspector was present and complimented our town on the progress and efficiency of the school.

Messrs. Coffey and Grant two former teachers were present and expressed confidence in the cooperation of Didsbury parents with the teachers.
The speed and order with which the eighty or more prizes and trophies were distributed was splendid. Everything connected with the Days events appeared to be carefully planned and well carried out.

Mr. Gathercole's orchestra deserves special mention for their excellent musical selection, also, too great praise cannot be bestowed on the instrumental music furnished by the Misses Moyle and Sexsmith. Miss Wiegand's solo was also listened to with great enjoyment.

The beautiful trophies presented by H. W. Chambers, Mayor Atkins and Joseph Stauffer, M.L.A. show in what high respect these gentlemen hold the physical development of the children.

Principal Reid and his staff were congratulated again and again on the good all round effective work done in the school.

Unknown Fish Caught

There has been landed at Granton, Firth of Forth, a catch of an apparently unknown species of fish, which has been taken by a trawler between the Shetland Islands and Norway. In shape the fish resembles the herring.
The scales, however, instead of being smooth are large and very coarse and the lateral line is very strongly marked, but the extraordinary feature is the eye, which practically covers the whole side of the head, resembling more than anything else the bellows of a lantern. Another feature is the gill cover, which is beautifully marked, and is just like a piece of mother of pearl.
